

PRESIDENT WILSON SPEAKS AT OMAHA

Discusses European War,
Peace and American Business

LARGE CROWDS CHEER

Executive Asserts America is as Ready to Fight as Any Nation But Cause Must

DELIVER THREE SPEECHES

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 5.—President Wilson discussed the European war, peace and American business in three speeches here today. He declared America is as ready to fight as any nation in the world, but that its cause must be just. After the war he said, this nation must join a league of nations to preserve the peace of the world.

The president was cheered during the day by crowds, the size and enthusiasm of which far exceeded anything he has experienced since his inauguration according to friends of the president. Attracted here for the celebration of Nebraska's fiftieth anniversary thousands of people from nearby cities and states packed Omaha's streets and shouted enthusiastically every time Mr. Wilson appeared.

Omaha was in gala attire for the day. The celebration, non-partisan in character and arranged by a committee made up largely of Republicans was given a political touch by the presence of the President. All the buildings were draped with American flags, windows were packed with people during the parade and bands constantly played popular and martial music. One of the busiest days of his career was spent by Mr. Wilson. Starting with brief speeches to crowds in Iowa towns, this morning, he came here to deliver three speeches, attend a lunch and dinner, lead a parade for an hour and then review it; visit the national swine show and hold several political conferences. He left tonight for Long Branch, N. J., where he will arrive Saturday morning.

While Mr. Wilson made no distinctly campaign speeches, he nevertheless was in campaign mood. Smiling constantly, he shook hands with thousands of people, patted babies on the head, waved his hat to enthusiastic admirers and enthused thoroughly in the spirit of Nebraska's semi-centennial celebration.

In his afternoon speech the President declared dramatically that after the European war the United States will live in a new age. "For the next decade," he said, "we have got to serve the world. That alters every commercial question, it alters every political question, it alters every question of domestic development."

He denied that the commerce of recent years has chiefly consisted in exports stimulated by the war.

President Wilson declared at tonight's dinner that he had been greatly pleased by the reception accorded him during the day. "The thinking, planning brain is the master of America," said the President in discussing the broad view of the people of Nebraska.

Seldom before has the President received such an uproar of cheering as greeted him from the people packing the Omaha auditorium tonight. The applause was sharp and ear-splitting. It rose several times and bowed, smiling, broadly. There were calls of "three cheers for our next President."

The majority of the crowd were men. A large crowd packed the street outside. For several minutes there were such calls, "who kept us out of war?—Wilson." "Who prevented the strike—Wilson." "Who saved the nation?—Wilson."

Gov. Moorehead of Nebraska introduced the President. Every mention of Mr. Wilson's name evoked applause.

"It would be very difficult to do justice to an occasion of this kind," began the president. He spoke of the importance of the west, mentioning Nebraska particularly and praising the people who come from Europe to seek freedom. The doors of the United States, he said, were built to be kept open not to be closed.

Since 1890, when internal frontiers in the United States disappeared the president declared America has taken on a new aspect and the nation has been growing closer together. It was no coincidence he said that soon afterward interest

O'LEARY SUES M'CORMICK FOR FIFTY THOUSAND

Resents Criticism for Sending an "Insulting Message" to President Wilson.

Declares Purpose is "to Find Out
Whether Hypnotism, So-Called, is Libellous and Whether It is Inconsistent With Americanism."

New York, Oct. 5.—Vance C. McCormick, chairman of the Democratic National committee, announced late today that he had been served with a summons in a suit for $50,000 brought against him by Jeremiah A. O'Leary, president of the American Truth Society. Mr. McCormick said he had not been apprised however, of the charges upon which the suit was based.

Mr. O'Leary in a statement issued soon afterward declared his purpose was "to find out, first, whether hypnotism, so-called, is libellous; and second, whether it is inconsistent with Americanism."

Mr. O'Leary said he resented a statement attributed to Mr. McCormick, criticizing him for sending an "insulting message" to President Wilson. In that message Mr. O'Leary criticized the president for "not enforcing American rights against Great Britain" and informed Mr. Wilson he would not vote for his re-election. Mr. Wilson replied he would "feel deeply mortified to have you (Mr. O'Leary) or anybody like you vote for me," adding:

"Since you have access to many disloyal Americans and I have not, I will ask you to convey this message to them."

In the statement attributed to Mr. McCormick, appearing October 4 and upon which Mr. O'Leary said he based his suit for libel, the chairman of the Democratic National Committee was quoted as having commented upon the presence of Charles E. Hughes at the Union League reception Tuesday night, concluding the statement that there "could be no doubt about Mr. Hughes' position because of his silence on the message sent to the president by Mr. O'Leary."

John R. Jones, attorney for Mr. O'Leary, declared that Mr. O'Leary "also intends to begin other libel suits against newspapers through the country who have questioned his right and abused him for sending what he considered to be a perfectly proper telegram to the President of the United States."

THREE ARE KILLED IN DYNAMITE BLAST

Three Cars Explode at Mill of Illinois
Powder Company at Grafton.

Grafton, Ill., Oct. 5.—Three men were killed and several were injured when three cars of dynamite exploded at the mill of the Illinois Powder Company here today. The powder mill was wrecked and the fronts of several buildings were shattered.

The shock was felt for thirty-five miles and in the north part of St. Louis many persons ran from their homes. In Alton, twenty miles northwest of here, windows were rattled, and at Edwardsville, 25 miles away, the shock was felt.

The number seriously injured by the explosion was five. The names of the dead follow:

Leo Peterson, superintendent.
William Gille, laborer.
Ray Goodrich, laborer.

The steamer Bald Eagle, St. Louis to Peoria, was passing Grafton when the explosion occurred. Although a quarter of a mile from shore, the boat was blown from her course. Every bunk on one side was torn loose and all window panes were broken. The cars containing the dynamite were blown to pieces and thirty frame buildings connected with the powder plant collapsed. About 100,000 pounds of dynamite exploded. A hole 250 feet long and twenty feet deep was torn in the earth.

"Ever since then," he continued, "we have been caught inevitably in the net of the politics of the world. Therefore, I want to discuss our connection with the rest of the world at present in the future."

"These great central plains are unlike either coast," he declared, adding that on the Pacific coast many rumors are heard of troubles in the Orient, while on the Atlantic coast the influences of Europe are sometimes felt.

"In order to carry out a program you must have unification of spirit in America," he continued. "There can be no program without a unified course behind it."

"It is very important that the statesman of other nations should understand America. We have held off from the conflagration in Europe because we wanted to play a different part."

War News Summarized

With the Russians still vigorously attacking the Austro-Germans in Volhynia west of Lutsk, and thence along the whole front to the Dniester in Galicia, Emperor William has started for the front of Gen. von Linsingen near Lutsk, where the principal fighting is taking place.

At various places in this sector and in Galicia, Petrograd asserts that the Austro-Germans have been defeated. Berlin, however, takes issue with the Russian war office statement and declares that the only point where the Russian reached the Teutonic lines was north of Zubino, and that here they later were driven out of the captured positions.

Altho there is some divergence in the official reports from Sofia and Bucharest concerning the fate of the force of Rumanians which was thrown across the Danube into Bulgaria, the fact is patent, according to a Bucharest communication, that they have ceased their demonstration. Bucharest adds that the Rumanians withdrew to the left bank of the Danube, but Sofia asserts that the battlefield in northern Bulgaria between Rostchuck and Turbul, where they crossed the river, is covered with Rumanian dead as a result of their forced speedy retirement back to their own soil.

All the attempts of the Rumanians and Russians to advance in Dobrudja have been frustrated by counter attacks of the Teutonic allies. Thirteen cannon have fallen into the hands of the Russians and Rumanians in this region.

In Transylvania the Rumanians have captured near Parajd, Austro-German fortifications after a battle that lasted three days. Near Bekoten, north of Forgas, and in the vicinity of the Hatszeg mountains the Rumanians were reported by Berlin as in retreat but it is admitted by the German war office that the invaders have made another gain in the Orsorga sector.

Forces of the entente powers have driven their line to within twelve miles of Monastir, Serbia, and occupied the town of Buf. On the eastern part of the Macedonian front the occupation of Yenikeui, near the Struma river, by the British is admitted by Berlin. Likewise Berlin concedes the taking by the entente forces of Nidje mountain east of Monastir. The Italians have captured several additional towns in Albania.

Considerable fighting has again taken place in Asiatic Turkey, where along the coast region, Russian land forces, in cooperation with their fleet have made advances on a wide front, inflicting heavy losses on the Turks and capturing arms, ammunition and supplies, says Petrograd. Constantinople reports the repulse of the British in an attempt to advance along the Euphrates front near Nasiriyeh.

Little fighting except by the artillery of the belligerents is taking place in the Austro-Italian theatre. A similar situation exists on the western front in France.

COURT REFUSES TO HEAR PETITION

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 5.—The Illinois Supreme Court today refused to hear a petition for mandamus to compel the election commissioners of Chicago to print the names of candidates for municipal judgeships on the same ballot with the other candidates to be voted for November 7.

Without giving its reasons the court denied the motion filed yesterday in the name of Carl A. Carlson of Chicago, asking leave to file petition for mandamus. Carlson's petition alleged that the law providing for the separate ballot for judicial candidates is unconstitutional and charged that it would cause an unnecessary expenditure of more than $50,000.

ROOT SPEAKS IN NEW YORK CITY

Addresses Mass Meeting
Under Auspices of Republican Club

DENOUNCES WILSON

Pleads for Awakening of "the Spirit That Bore Up Your Fathers in Their

DEPEW FOLLOWS ROOT

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Elihu Root, at a mass meeting held here tonight under the auspices of the Republican Club, declared that the question for the American people to decide in the present campaign is:

"Are they willing to have the serious and critical affairs in which their vital interest will be concerned during the next four years conducted in the same way that the Mexican business has been conducted?"

"Shall we engage Mr. Wilson, Mr. Bryan, Mr. McAdoo, Mr. Daniels and the rest of the Democratic administration and a Democratic congress to manage our affairs for the next four years?" he asked.

Mr. Root read his speech from manuscript. Former United States Senator Chauncey Depew followed him and characterized President Wilson's speech at Shadow Lawn, N. J., last Saturday as "admirably phrased and adroitly and captivantly put," but added that "generalizations never will bear the acid tests of facts."

Denunciation of the foreign policies and the tariff and national defense measures of the Democratic administration and a plea for an awakening of "the spirit that bore up our fathers in their poverty and struggles" marked Root's speech. He said in part:

"We are told that Mr. Wilson has kept the country out of war. So has every president for seventy years except Lincoln and McKinley. Never since Columbus sighted San Salvador has there been a time when it has been so easy for America to keep out of war by doing nothing as it has been during the great conflict now raging. No country has been willing to assume hostile relations with us because that would have the effect of weakening her and strengthening her present enemies. More than that, none of the countries at war has been willing to incur our passive hostility and throw to her active enemies the benefits of our material and moral support, free from the limitations imposed by the law of neutrality."

"Our danger is not now, while the great war is raging, but later, when peace has been made and the great armies are free and rulers and governments look about for ways to repair their losses. Then will come the pressure of competition backed by force. Then will come the grasping for opportunity, for trade advantage, for territorial foothold, where the wealth of the world is concentrating while the old nations are fighting. Then we must be determined whether the Monroe Doctrine has behind it the sincerity and courage of a great nation or is to be surrendered as an idle boast."

"Peace is not maintained by the surrender of just rights, for the resumption of impunity begotten of weak submission to aggression breeds still further aggression until at last a humiliated and outraged people plunges into war, which ought to have been wholly unnecessary. Peace is maintained by the assertion of just rights, calmly, dispassionately, reasonably, accompanied by a knowledge of power behind the assertion and a conviction in the minds of others that there is behind the power courage and resolution."

"The Wilson Administration has had the opportunity to exhibit its character to the world and it has failed to carry conviction or to command respect. In fields of major importance affecting international affairs it has shown itself irresolute, and incompetent, and that is the judgment of the world. These three are the murder of our citizens on the Lusitania, the preparation of military and naval force for national defense, and the ghastly failure in Mexico."

RESOLUTION.

Condemn Proposed Amendments to Federal Reserve Act—Leave Selection of Secretary and Next Place of Meeting to Executive Council.

Danville, Ill., Oct. 5.—Resolutions were adopted at the closing session of the Illinois Bankers' Association today condemning the proposed amendment to the federal reserve act as "contrary to the spirit" of the act "in establishing twelve regional reserve banks in order that the banking power of this country might not be centralized in one place."

The resolution states that "certain large banks and quite a few politicians have been working industriously to amend the federal reserve act and establish branch banks in this country."

The resolutions further declare that "such an act would in time, place in the hands of a few the banking control of this country and create the greatest monopoly that the world has ever seen."

Another resolution adopted provides for the appointment by the administrative committee of a committee of five private bankers, the two committees to form the special legislative committee of the state association empowered to draft and present to the state legislature a bill providing for state supervision of private banks, and a bill providing for the creation of a state banking department. The drafts of the proposed bills are to be presented to the executive council at the mid-winter meeting before being presented to the legislature.

The following officers were elected:

President—W. S. Rearick, Ashland.
Vice President—Robert R. Ward, Benton.
Treasurer—H. G. Henry, Camp Point.

When she was built she was considered one of the most comfortable steamers of the Cunard line.

DEMONSTRATION DOES NOT DISTURB WOMEN

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Women of the Hughes' woman party, undisturbed by the street demonstration of some of the members of the Workingman's Independent Union League which greeted them on the arrival of the special train here, pronounced themselves well satisfied with their reception before retiring on the train which was to leave at 3 a. m. for Rock Island, Ill., Cedar Rapids and Waterloo, Ia., where tomorrow will be spent.

RESERVES RESTORE ORDER

BULLETIN.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Conspiracy to assassinate Theodore P. Shonts, and Franklin Hedley, president and general manager respectively of the Interborough Rapid Transit and the New York Railways companies, was unearthed here late tonight, according to the police. Two men have been detained and detectives are said to be searching the city for others alleged to be involved.

The police declare a conversation in a saloon which was overheard by a disinterested person led to the discovery of the alleged plot.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Spurred by the exhortations of "Mother" Jones, labor agitator, three hundred wives and women relatives of striking street car men battled with police late this afternoon in the most serious riot since the walkout on the traction lines began a month ago. Clubs were swung right and left by the police and many of the women were bruised. Scores of the rioters carried babies in their arms.

A crowd of strikers, who had congregated around the uptown hall where the meeting addressed by "Mother" Jones was held, entered the fray on the side of the women and was driven back by a few patrolmen in the zone when an automobile load of bluecoat reinforcements arrived. The reserves plunged into the midst of the struggling mob and wielded their clubs without mercy. When the rioters finally fled they left behind nine prisoners—six women and three men in the hands of the police.

The trouble began when the women poured out of the hall where "Mother" Jones had exhorted them to "get the scabs" off the cars. "You are too sentimental," she had cried. "Staying at home thinking of dress and trinkets when you ought to be out raising hell."

Going into the street the women hooted and jeered all crosstown cars in 56th street. Suddenly a chunk of asphalt was hurled through the window of a car halted by a large automobile truck. This seemed the signal for a general attack on the car and in less than a minute every window was shattered. A patrolman who was on strike duty on the car escorted the forty or fifty passengers into the street and then charged alone into the crowd of jeering women. He was helpless, however, until assistance arrived.

Meanwhile the car was being wrecked as piece after piece of broken asphalt from a pile on the sidewalk was hurled at it. The motorman and conductor were lost to sight after several women climbed aboard the car and pulled them to the street. The men's clothing was torn, their faces scratched and bruised. It was not until the automobile load of reserves arrived that a semblance of order was restored.

One of the women arrested charged the police with dragging her infant child from her arms. She asserted the child was left on the sidewalk and two hours after the riot no trace of it had been found.

Before the meeting of the women closed a committee was appointed to arrange for a women's parade from Union Square to the City Hall, where an attempt will be made to see Mayor Mitchell. The parade probably will be held next Monday.

"Daniels is for Wilson."

Secretary Daniels has been making speeches in Illinois in recent days and several downstate Democratic papers have carried in huge type the startling announcement, "Josephus Daniels is supporting Wilson." Why this fact should be displayed so glaringly no one can understand. Why shouldn't Josephus Daniels support Wilson, since his management as secretary of the navy has furnished the opportunity for so many attacks upon the Wilson administration, and in many quarters the navy secretary is regarded as a millstone around President Wilson's neck.

No Embargo Needed.

The woman's national chamber of commerce has started a movement to urge upon the government the necessity for placing an embargo on wheat with the theory that such an embargo would keep the U. S. supply at home and thus lower the price of flour. There would be just as much reason for placing an embargo upon a dozen commodities as upon wheat, for the shipments abroad are so enormous that the price for home consumption has been greatly boosted.

The woman's movement is not destined for success, because the great majority of people in this country do not believe in the embargo principle—that is, as applied to conditions like those existing now. The foreign demand makes every consumer pay higher prices than would otherwise be true, but as many consumers are also producers, in many instances they in turn are receiving a higher price for what they have to sell.

City and County Interests Are One.

Preparations already made for Jacksonville's fall festival give assurance that the week will be one of very special interest. The committees in charge have outlined a program which will be of value to the farming community and if weather conditions are favorable no doubt some big crowds will be seen each day of the week. The various exhibits and events are all to be in Central park, a fact which is a frequent cause for congratulation as this central location will place the events readily within sight and reach of all the public.

It has not been planned to make this a great exposition, but nevertheless such exhibits have been announced as are especially appropriate to a community where farming is the chief industry. The festival week should have the result of further cementing the cordial relations which exist between the people of the town and the country, making residents in Jacksonville and the outlying districts recognize anew that their interests are the same.

Root Assails Administration.

When Elihu Root, former secretary of state, speaks, the people of New York take notice. Limiting the attention to New York is not proper, for Mr. Root's statements have weight in a nation-wide way. In the address at New York last night Mr. Root in unmeasured terms denounced the Democratic administration for inefficiency, assailing particularly the foreign policy and the tariff measure adopted.

It was in no measure a vituperative address but one given in that forceful and logical way which gives Senator Root's utterances such weight.

Rippling Rhymes By WALT MASON

ELOQUENCE

I listen to the gifted speaker, the patriotic office seeker, who lifts his voice, that's strong and hearty, and neatly skins the other party. He shows how tyrants grind and goad me, and get my goat and overload me, and rob me by unjust taxation, until I'm hot with indignation. And when I leave that redhot meeting, I say: "Such facts are surely heating; unless that fellow is elected, the country's doom may be expected." Next night I hear another speller address the voter and the hearer. He is the gifted speaker's foe, and with the front of Ancient Roman, that gifted speaker he denounces, and with the lash of virtue trounces. He shows me how the gifted speaker is but a chronic office seeker, the agent of a bunch of tyrants who charge the poor unholly high rents, who, having got me, won't release me, but certainly will grind and fleece me. And as I leave the hall I mutter, "We'll drift along to ruin until, unless this fellow is the winner, unless he beats that baled! sinner!" I hear the patriots embattled; the more I hear, the worse I'm rattled!

DATES IN ILLINOIS HISTORY.

October, 6, 1818.—Shadrach Bond first governor of Illinois, was inaugurated.

The speaker declared that no credit was due to President Wilson for keeping this nation out of war, and maintained that this condition was the result of world-wide circumstances and not because of the president's policy.

Following the administration's course with reference to foreign affairs and especially with Mexico, the senator made it clear that the policy had been wavering and uncertain and said that the principal question now before the people was whether or not they wanted the same uncertainty to prevail in the next four years—years which he said presented far more of dangerous possibility to this country than have the past years since the great European conflict began. He suggested this thought for reflection in this language: "The question for the American people now is, are they willing to have the serious and critical affairs in which their vital interest will be concerned during the next four years, conducted in the same way that the Mexican business has been conducted?"

EXPENDITURES FOR ROAD WORK INCREASE

Government Report Shows Marked Increase in Activities Under State Supervision.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 5.—Rapid increase in total expenditures for roads and bridges, growth of building and maintenance activities under State supervision, and a sharp decrease in the proportion of contributions in the form of statute labor mark the development of highway work in the United States during the past 12 years. These facts are brought out by statistics for the calendar year 1915 recently compiled by the Office of Public Roads and Rural Engineering of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The total length of public roads in the United States outside the limits of incorporated towns and cities was about 2,452,000 miles on January 1, 1916. Of this, about 277,000 miles, or 11.3 per cent, were improved with some form of surfacing. The mileage of surfaced roads has been increasing at the rate of about 16,000 miles a year, and in 1915 approximately one-half of this increase was made under the supervision of State highway departments. In addition these departments supervised the maintenance of nearly 52,000 miles of main trunk and trunk line roads.

The increase in expenditures for road and bridge work in the United States has been from approximately $80,000,000 per year in 1904 to about $282,000,000 in 1915, an increase of more than 250 per cent. The expenditure of state funds during this same period increased from about $2,550,000 to more than $53,000,000. In addition, more than $27,000,000 of local funds was spent under state supervision in 1915, bringing the total road and bridge expenditures managed by the state to $80,514,699. This amount is greater than the total expenditures for roads and bridges from all sources in 1904.

The growth in importance of the State highway departments has been rapid. The first of these agencies was created in 1891 in New Jersey and now some form of highway department exists in every state except Indiana, South Carolina, and Texas. Since their inception these departments had expended to January 1, 1916, an aggregate of $265,350,825 in state funds for road and bridge construction, maintenance, and administration. They had constructed over 50,000 miles of roads in cooperation with the states. More than 40,000 miles of these roads were surfaced.

The falling off in the value of road work performed by statute and convict labor was from $20,000,000 in 1904 when the total road expenditures were $80,000,000 to about $15,000,000 in 1915 when the total expenditures had grown to $282,000,000. This was a reduction from 25 per cent of the total in former years to less than 5 per cent of the total in 1915.

An increase in the use of better and more expensive types of roads also is shown by the recently compiled statistics. This development has been due, in large part, to the great increase in automobile traffic. It is estimated that there are now approximately 2 1-4 million automobiles in use on the country roads of the country, or 1 car for every mile of road. This present motor traffic is in excess of traffic of all sorts 12 years ago.

The cash road and bridge expenditures of the United States averaged only $28 per mile of rural roads in 1904. In 1915 this average had grown to $109 per mile. New Jersey led all other states both in 1904 and in 1915 with $221 and $475 per mile respectively. Nevada made the least expenditure in both years—$3.72 per mile in 1904 and $17 per mile in 1915.

MANY SEEKING SERIES SEATS DISAPPOINTED

Hundreds of Requests Refused—Women and Staid Business Men Vie With Messenger Boys in Effort to Gain Prominent Places.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 5.—Seekers of reserved seats took on the appearance of bleacher crowds today in the scramble at Fenway Park for reservations for the World's Series Baseball games which begin here Saturday.

Women and staid business men vie with messenger boys and others in their efforts to gain prominent places in the line.

No disorder developed but the police were called upon to reform lines and club employees endeavored unsuccessfully to please disappointed applicants who clamored for answers to their written requests for seats.

The rush for reservations was a result of a new system made necessary this year, President J. J. Lannin of the Boston Americans explained because of the late day upon which the American League game was decided. By this system, those first in line obtained the better seats.

In all probability, club officials agree, more persons have been disappointed thru failure to receive tickets this year than ever before. Hundreds of requests have been refused.

An indication of the number of refusals was shown in the statement of a man who speculates in seats, that he had caused 18 letters to be written each asking for a seat and had received word to date of the granting of only three of these applications.

The police patrol of the ticket lines is rigorous, and those soliciting or selling tickets are first warned away and then arrested if they persist. One arrest was made today.

The session at Braves' Field, which Manager Carrigan directed, was a hummering affair, in which everybody seemed to take it easy.

PLANS MATURE RAPIDLY FOR FESTIVAL WEEK

BRYAN WILL COME WITH GOV.
DUNNE FOR FRIDAY SPEAKING

National Prohibition Candidates Here Tuesday—Tent in Central Park Already Given Suggestion of Address—Four Bands on Concert Program—Dairy Exhibit Will Come Direct from Peoria Fair.

Central Park is taking on a real festival appearance with the erection of tents and the general work which is in progress in preparation for next week. The poultry show tent is in the northwest part of the park and the woman's tent is located in the southeast portion. The tent erected at the northeast location is for the dairy exhibit. P. W. Fox has a tent erected for an exhibit of farm implements and other merchants well get tents in readiness today and tomorrow. The space for the various exhibits was laid off yesterday by Secretary Rodgers.

Prohibition Presidential Candidates
P. B. VanHorn, advance agent for the national Prohibition speakers, was here Thursday to make final arrangements for the coming of Governor Hanly, candidate for the presidency, and his associates. The party will arrive in Jacksonville over the Chicago & Alton at 9:45 Tuesday morning and will be taken to Central Park for a speaking program. Governor Hanly, his running mate for the vice presidency, Dr. Ira Landrith, and Oliver W. Stewart, who has national reputation as a Prohibition party worker, will all make brief addresses. They will leave Jacksonville over the Wabash for Mt. Sterling about 10:30.

New interest was given the political side of the week by the announcement yesterday that Hon. William Jennings Bryan will accompany Governor Dunne to this city next Friday. Jacksonville people well remember that one of the greatest crowds ever seen here was on Bryan day a number of years ago. While the former secretary does not have as great a following now, his coming along with Governor Dunne should insure a great crowd on that date.

Four Bands on Program

Additional interest has been given the musical features for the week by the announcement that several other bands in addition to the Jeffries band will take part. The home organization will furnish the musical program for the first three days, Meredosa band will come Thursday, the Merritt band Saturday and unless plans go astray the Waverly organization will be here for Friday. Monday which has been designated fire prevention day in accordance with the proclamation by Governor Dunne will be celebrated by a run of the Jacksonville fire department and an exhibition of fire extinguishers. Fire Chief Hunt has charge of this feature of the program and is arranging for a very interesting exhibit.

Special Dairy Exhibit

The increased attention given dairying by Morgan county farmers is responsible for the fact that a dairy exhibit will be a prominent feature in the park. The Sharples Separator company will bring a complete exhibit of dairy machinery and appliances and no doubt other companies will be represented. The exhibit mentioned will come direct from the Peoria fair and demonstrations will be given of electrical milking machines every afternoon and there will be various interesting models of dairy machinery. The state pure food commission will also have an exhibit in this tent. Modern stanchions will be included in the equipment shown and of course there will be dairy cattle on view. The entries for the poultry show and the farm products exhibits are coming in rapidly and it is now certain that in these departments the space available will be taxed. It should be remembered that no entrance fees are charged and any persons having articles or livestock to exhibit should get into early communication with Secretary Rodgers.

THE BIRTH RECORD.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Brown, of 564 North Webster Avenue are the proud parents of an eight pound baby girl, Elizabeth Gertrude. Mrs. Brown was formerly Miss Bessie Smith. Grandpa and Grandma Brown are very much delighted over the arrival and are willing to give the young lady every wish.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Many Attended Redshaw Family Reunion.

The annual reunion of the Redshaw family was held at the beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. William Redshaw west of Riggston. At the noon hour when the dining room doors were opened the assembled guests found the table handsomely spread with all the good things that the season of the year could suggest. In the afternoon the hours were spent with music and conversation and it was late when the guests left for their homes with very pleasant memories of the successful occasion. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Redshaw, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Funk and daughter, Miss Ruth Funk, of Chapin; Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hogan and nephew, Frank Redshaw; Dr. and Mrs. B. F. Webster, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Smithson and Mrs. Eliza Martin of Winchester; Miss Beird of Bluffs, Harry Matthews and sisters, Misses Verna and Grace, of Exeter.

Will Give Party To Miss McBride.

A miscellaneous shower will be given this evening by Mrs. Clyde Richardson at her home, 607 East College avenue, in honor of her cousin, Miss Helen McBride. Intimate friends of the guest of honor have been invited and the event will be one of several for this bride to be.

Farewell Party for Miss Grace McCarty.

Miss Grace L. McCarty was very pleasantly surprised Thursday evening when about twenty-five of her friends gathered at her home, 774 East College avenue. The occasion was a farewell for Miss McCarty, who is soon to leave for Memphis, Tenn., where she has accepted a position with the Union & Planters' Bank & Trust Co., one of the largest financial institutions in the south.

The evening was pleasantly spent with music and games and the guests departed, wishing much success for Miss McCarty in her new undertaking. Delightful refreshments were served by Mrs. A. J. McCarty, who planned the surprise, assisted by her daughters, Misses Adelaide and Ruth McCarty.

Welcome Reception for Rev. E. L. Fletcher.

The Rev. E. L. Fletcher, new pastor of Centenary M. UGLY GIRLS HAVE THEIR INNINGS

New York, Oct. 5.—The general belief that every girl thinks herself beautiful was shattered to smithereens today, when a veritable brigade of femininity lined up at Madison Square Garden in response to an advertisement for "the ugliest girl in New York." The girl who was homely and knew it was wanted by the Printers' Supply Salesmen's Guild to lead the grand march at the annual ball of the organization. There were applicants a-plenty, but disappointment was in store for the crowd that assembled with the expectation of seeing feminine homeliness en masse. There may be girls in New York with eyes that refuse to do team work, elbows that approach the lefionous, ears that flap in the wind, and ankles that are not entitled to the name. But they did not show up in response to the advertisement for "the ugliest girl." Those who did appear would pass muster in any crowd and if they are a sample of the homeliest, then Father Knickerbocker has good reason to be proud of his girls.

MOTHER! YOUR CHILD IS CROSS, FEVERISH, FROM CONSTIPATION

If Tongue is Coated, Breath Bad, Stomach Sour, Clean Liver and Bowels.

Give "California Syrup of Figs" at once—a teaspoonful today often saves a sick child tomorrow. If your little one is out-of-sorts, half sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated, indigestion, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."—Adv.

SOME FARM THEMES

AREA AND CROP YIELD

Proportion of Farm Given to Intertilled Crops as Related to Production.

Given a hundred acres to be devoted to crops in general farming, what proportion should be devoted to corn or other intertilled crops in order to secure the most favorable effect on crop yields?

The department believes that the answer to this question can approximately be determined, locally, for any given type of farming on any given type of soil. Recent surveys conducted by the Office of Farm Management indicate that for Chester County, Pa., and for the corn belt of Illinois it is about 37 acres, and that for Lenawee County, Mich., it is about 32 acres. It was found that farms devoting to intertilled crops areas ranging from 32 to 37 per cent of total crop acreage realized, on the average, higher yields for all crops than did those farms upon which either a larger or a smaller percentage of crop area was devoted to corn, potatoes, and other crops of that class.

In making this investigation the "crop index" was used as a measure of efficiency in the maintenance of crop yields. The crop index indicates the standing of a farm in percentage of yielding power, the yield of the average farm of the group surveyed representing 100 per cent. It was found that the crop index went up uniformly with an increase in acreage of intertilled crops until that acreage reached a point above 31 and lower than 38 per cent of the total crop area, and then declined uniformly as such acreage increased above that limit.

In explanation of the falling-off in yield of all crops after the area in intertilled crops passes a certain point, the department specialists advance the theory that it is due to the excessive loss of humus entailed by the extra tillage. It was found that this falling-off in yield was present even when there was an increase in the number of live stock per acre.

In analyzing the data secured thru these surveys, an effort was made to establish also the percentage of area that can most profitably be devoted to perennial grass for hay, but the results obtained in this regard are not so striking as those relating to intertilled crops. It seems, however, that, for Chester county at least, this area is about 56 per cent of the total crop area.

These figures are not advanced as wholly conclusive, but as suggestive as to what may be done along this line. The department believes that they indicate the possibility of determining approximately the part of a farm that should be devoted to each of the major classes of crops to secure maximum yields under given general conditions—what percentage of crop area to intertilled crops, what to grain, and what to perennial grasses.

A detailed discussion of the data in question will be found in Circular No. 57 recently issued by the department.

Corn Prospects

The corn market continues to reveal great strength, with prices high, but it is hardly safe to guess as to the future, though indications promise well. Late reports indicate that damage from frost was slight, though in some cases it injured quality, and total yield will not be excessive. In the past those who for personal reasons have wished to see corn lower have scared other trade with predictions as to imports from Argentina, but that trade has never amounted to enough in bushels to injure prices for our own corn. Argentine corn has proved unsatisfactory for feeding, though evidently serving fairly well in glucose factories and distilleries. With a fair supply of pretty good corn on hand, let us see what the demand promises. Export demand has been fair for the past two years and promises to continue. Meat prices are high, making livestock feeding more attractive than ever before and feeders more willing to market their corn on four legs. Distilleries have been doing a tremendous business in alcohol for war purposes and there is, so far as we know, no immediate prospect of its falling off. They were our largest buyers of corn last year. These are the main points for consideration though others bear to some extent on prospects. But possibly the admonition of many successful farmers that the best time to sell is when prices are "above the average" is the best guess after all. Gambling on corn and other grains is a risky business, widely practiced in the country and elsewhere.—The Farmers' Review, Chicago.

NEW STEEL LOCKERS FOR ILLINOIS COLLEGE GYM.

Desirable Addition Made Thru Generosity of Mrs. J. F. Downing.

Announcement was made at the Illinois college chapel exercises Thursday morning that thru the generosity of Mrs. J. F. Downing of Kansas City, Mo., a set of new steel lockers will be provided for the men's locker room in the gymnasium. The check for the lockers was accompanied by the following letter:

"My dear Mr. Rammelkamp:
Your letter of September was forwarded to me as it was expected that I would return home earlier than I did. Consequently the enclosed check could not reach you in time for the first chapel. It is a pleasure to be able to provide the needed lockers and I am glad that you called upon me for the amount.
Most sincerely,
Jessie Burnham Downing."

The lockers, which have already been ordered, are twenty in number and will be placed on the south wall of the locker room. Repairs have been made in the college gymnasium to the extent of nearly a thousand dollars, this sum being realized from gifts from the chairman of the board and by appropriation from the college fund. Sufficient funds were not available, however, for the purchase of the lockers, and but for the kindness of Mrs. Downing this improvement would necessarily have been postponed for some time. Mrs. Downing, who is the wife of J. F. Downing, '79, a trustee of the college, was the donor of the steel lockers at present in the gymnasium.

Charles Taylor of Chapin paid the city a business visit yesterday.

SOUTH AMERICAN NATION IS MUCH LIKE U. S.

"The Real Argentine" by Hammetton, to be added to Public Library, Points Out Interesting Resemblances—Other Library Notes

"The Real Argentine," one of the new books to go into circulation this week at the public library, is characterized as one of the few readable and at the same time reliable works on South American countries. The Argentine Republic, with its marvelous development, temperate climate, agricultural resources and mixed population has confronting it many of the problems which face our own nation and this book, by Hammetton, to quote a review published by the New York State Library is "Full of entertaining and often caustic comment on social and business conditions, in Buenos Ayres in particular."

Following are some of the other books, all of which will be ready for circulation Saturday:

Carmen—Pipes of Pan. Four volumes.

Frost—Boy's Will.

Guterman—"Laughing Muse."

These three poetical works, well worthy of time of any one who loves the true and beautiful:

Eastman—The Indian of Today.

Dr. Eastman, himself a Sioux, is one of the foremost representatives of his race. In this book he discusses the present and the future of the Indian from all points of view.

Ward—What I Believe I Say. A candid attempt to analyze the beliefs of a sincerely religious man whose faith has persisted in the midst of the last century's tremendous increases in scientific knowledge.

Ten pamphlets. The subjects are Cotton, Corn, Grasses and Hay, Citrus Fruits and Truck Crops, Orchards, Strawberries and Other Berries, Sorghum and Sugar Cane, Vegetables, Tobacco, Wheat, Oats, Rye, Barley and Rice.

Real Fiction: Iline, The Individual, and Mason, Golden Hope.

The Story Hours

Mrs. Frances Cox, children's librarian, is planning to resume soon the winter story hours for children. While no definite announcement has been made as to the winter program, the Robin Hood ballads will probably be among the chief story themes.

Iconoclasts generally and all who dare to think in ways unconventional will welcome the "Unpopular Review" soon to be added to the library magazine list. The "Unpopular Review" is a high class quarterly publication, on a parity with the better English quarterly magazines. It combines with its frank handling of important subjects, an excellent literary style.

Work on the heating plant has been in progress for several days and Thursday a fire was built for the first time.

School and Club Work

Since the beginning of school and the opening of the club season the library has become a very busy place. Students seem to be taking advantage of library facilities to a greater extent than ever before. A number of the clubs have their program on files at the library and the members of the staff have recently been engaged in much research work for club women of the city.

Circulation estimates at this time make a high average seem probable and it is likely that the librarian's report at the October board meeting to be held next Tuesday, will show a gratifying increase in all departments.

Books at the branch have all been renewed and this fact, together with the recent return of Miss Ausbury from a Canadian visit, has resulted in a bettered circulation from the South Clay avenue station. For more than a year Miss Ausbury has had the branch especially in charge. The station is open each Friday evening at the grocery store of Carl Henderson and third ward residents appreciate more and more the advantage of having a library of good books close at hand.

F. J. BLACKBURN BUYS BIG MOTOR TRUCK

L. F. O'Donnell yesterday closed a contract with F. J. Blackburn for the early delivery of a White motor truck. It will be a 5-ton truck of the best type manufactured by the White company and this means that there is nothing better of the kind on the market. The truck will be equipped with dumping apparatus and will be used by Mr. Blackburn in his general contracting business and during the winter season for the hauling of coal for the local state institutions. Records show that with a truck of this kind, which can be unloaded in a moment's time, that the work done daily will equal that which could be accomplished with a large number of teams. Supt. Hill of Jacksonville State hospital and Supt. Gillett of the School for the Deaf will have the scales at those institutions rebuilt so that truck loads can be weighed.

MGR. JOHNSON MAKES SPECIAL GRAND BOOKING

LaSalle Stock Company Coming for Three Days Engagement During Festival Week.

Manager Johnson of the Grand announced yesterday that he had booked the LaSalle Stock company for a three days' engagement beginning next Thursday, October 12. This company has been appearing in the larger cities with great success and is one of the season's most popular musical attractions. The engagement will open Thursday with "The Time, the Place and the Girl"; on Friday will be presented the musical comedy, "Little Miss Nobody from Starland," and on Saturday, "Whose Little Girl are You?" Each of these productions has had a long and successful run in the larger cities commanding high prices.

The time of the different shows will be arranged so that there will be no conflict with the various free attractions during Festival week. Announcement as to the time of the different performances will be made at a later date.

The company includes thirty people and carries a carload of special scenery and costumes. Popular prices will prevail for this attraction, 15c, 25c, and 35c for the evening performance and for the matinee 25c for any seat in the house. THREE INJURED IN AUTO COLLISION AT WHITE HALL

Mrs. Earl Todd In Serious Condition From Accident—Price Lindsay Drove Car at Mad Pace.

White Hall, Oct. 5—Mrs. Earl Todd of White Hall was injured internally and Price Lindsay of White Hall was rendered unconscious when a Ford car driven by Lindsay collided with a buggy occupied by Mrs. Cox and her husband in Main street in White Hall at 8 o'clock Thursday evening.

The accident occurred in front of the Princess theater here. Mrs. Todd was thrown nearly across the street and was rendered unconscious and received internal injuries. Lindsay was rendered unconscious and was badly cut and bruised while his companion Earl DeLong of Roodhouse was also badly cut. Mr. Todd escaped injury. The buggy was completely wrecked. The horse escaped injury in the collision and broke loose from the vehicle and ran away. The car turned completely over and was badly damaged.

Lindsay and DeLong had been to Carrollton attending the fair. They left that city driving at a terrific pace and the police in Carrollton tried to stop them. This was attempted at the 4th lights of White Hall but failed and Lindsay continued his mad drive down Main street in White Hall until he collided with the Todd buggy.

Drs. Chapin and McLaren were called and attended Mrs. Todd. Lindsay remained unconscious for over an hour after the accident, tho the physicians did not believe he was seriously injured. He was later taken by relatives to his home in Roodhouse.

DeLong was placed under arrest by the White Hall police and it is probable that Lindsay also will be held to answer for the accident. After the accident White Hall officers in searching the wrecked automobile found a quantity of beer and whiskey. It is believed that both men were under the influence of liquor. Lindsay is a chauffeur while DeLong is a baseball player.

BEVERIDGE OPENS HIS WESTERN TOUR

ATTACKS ADMINISTRATION'S FOREIGN POLICY

Former Senator Claims Republican Credit for So-Called Constructive Legislation of the Administration

Chicago, Oct. 5.—Former United States Senator Albert J. Beveridge, opening his western speaking tour in behalf of Charles E. Hughes here tonight attacked the administration's foreign policy, claimed Republican credit for so-called constructive legislation of the administration and declared the prosperity of the present was "sectional, spotted, and stained."

The Era of Construction.

We are concerned not so much with the past as with the present and the future; we are interested, not so much in criticism as in construction. The task at hand, and the work before us are big enough to engage our best thought and all our thought.

We must build for tomorrow and our plan must be as wide as the horizon now opening before us. A new world is being born. Just as the Napoleonic wars destroyed an outworn political dispensation, so the present system is ending an old economic system. In this new day, and amidst these changed conditions, there must be a new America. Let us be thankful and glad that we are privileged to lay its foundations.

This work means, first of all, a broader, deeper, stronger nationalism. The philosophy of localism is dead. The practice of it must no longer interfere with the unity of the Republic. National law and national authority must deal with all things that help or hurt the entire people.

Exclusive National Supervision of Railways.

Our railways in their management and service, are national. They are the highways of the Republic as a whole. The well being of the entire American People depends upon the service they render, and the solvency of the railroads depends upon the common prosperity of the Nation. Yet American railways, unlike those of every other country, are under the control of forty-eight local sovereignties, as well as that of the general government. Hundreds of conflicting state regulations and an army of state officials complicate their operation.

The plain remedy is to place the railways of the Nation under the exclusive control of the national government.

They are vital to national development in the confusion caused by our multitudes they can be transported quickly and in immense numbers. In the confusion caused by our multiple and discordant control of the railways, we could not promptly transport so small an army as half a million men. Under national control American railways could be coordinated and systematized. This is only a logical step in the practical development of that nationalism required by the needs of the people.

The Strange Case of Mexico.

The administration found a de facto government stronger than any since the regime of Diaz. That government had been recognized by Great Britain, France, Germany, Russia, Japan and other powers, upon the advice of their seasoned diplomatic representatives who had long been on the ground and knew the facts. Yet the administration did not content itself with refusing to recognize this de facto government, but ordered it to dissolve without a successor to take its place. The administration did this upon the pretext that the de facto Mexican government had not gained power according to the Constitution and laws of that country and that the de facto president was stained with crime. Yet since then the administration has nonchalantly recognized a government in Peru set up in a single night by force and murder.

On purely moral grounds, these pretenses would make us the arbiter in every contested change of government on earth and involve us as the deciding party in every revolution that occurs in any land. Unless it be admitted that we have a peculiar interest and a special duty in Mexico, the theory on which the President says he acted would have required us to interfere in the bloody changes of power that have recently taken place and are still taking place in China. If the pretext that Huerta held the Presidency thru intrigue and bloodshed is a sound reason for the administration's action, then the American government ought in like manner to have demanded that the King of Serbia quit the throne to which he had been lifted by murder and conspiracy—unless it be admitted that we have a peculiar interest and special duty in Mexico.

If the administration answers that China and Serbia are far away while Mexico adjoins our borders and that, therefore, we have an interest in and owe a duty to the neighbor country which we do not owe to distant lands, it condemns its own conduct. It abandons the moral ground for its action because morality does not depend upon distance. It admits that we have a peculiar interest and a special duty in Mexico, because it is adjacent to us.

No Abandonment of the Philippines. No wonder that an administration with this conception of America's work in the world and place among the nations proposes also to surrender the wards of the nation in the Philippines to the iron rule of Japan. Who now are better off, the Filipinos or the Mexicans? Never in the history of the world has any government done so much in so short a time for backward people as we have done for the Filipinos. We have distributed the land among the natives, who today, for the first time, own the soil they till. We have policed the country so well that where violence, robbery and murder once reigned, life and property are as secure as they are anywhere in the United States itself. We have built roads and school-houses and taught the arts of peace. We have transferred squalor into prosperity, want into plenty, misery into happiness.

Our trade with the Philippines has increased from a few thousand dollars to almost twenty-five million dollars annually. These islands are the richest on earth, and will soon develop a commerce with us of at least a hundred million dollars a year. They are the American commercial outpost in the Pacific, our center of trade at the door of the east. What would we think of Holland if she abandoned Java? Or of Great Britain if she surrendered Ceylon? Or of France if she fled from Morocco and Algiers? An administration that would strike the flag in the Philippines ought not to be kept in power.

"Wilson Kept Us Out of War." Nothing but this campaign catchword: "The administration has kept us out of war."

With whom?

If we had been in danger of war during the last three years and the administration had with honor saved us from that tragedy, that great fact would have gone far to atone for the general malpractice of statesmanship from which the nation has suffered. This is not a time for partisan rancor. No American should allow personal animosity against the President of the United States to overrule his judgment on greater questions of the nation's well-being.

We ought to consider all the administration's acts with free, open and unprejudiced minds and with a sincere desire to decide in the administration's favor if the facts will permit it. We ought to be happy that we are able to admit that this administration has done good things for the country and that this and any and every administration, past and to come, always has and always will intend to do the best it can for the welfare of the Republic.

In this spirit, then, let us see whether the claim that the administration "has kept us out of war" is true or whether it is one of those false and hollow campaign slogans which, too often, have taken the place of truth and reason in the heat and fury of the American campaigns.

What Is War?

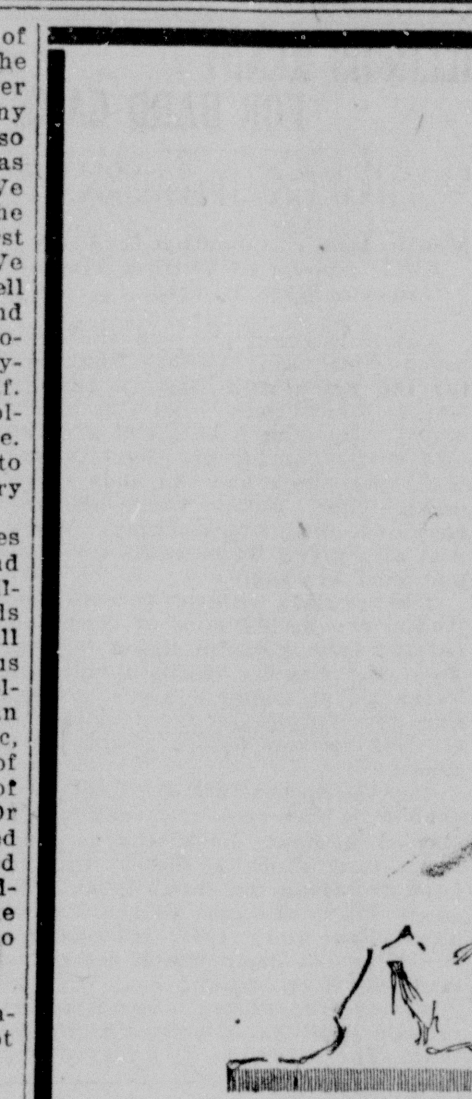

Have we been kept out of war with Mexico? What is war? Merely a declaration? Our naval war with France was waged for two years without a declaration. Japan struck Russia without a declaration. War means offensive and deadly attacks. We invaded Mexico and withdrew; but fighting took place and American marines were killed. Our territory was invaded by Mexicans who were driven out; but again Americans were killed. We invaded that country once more and today our military forces, with siege guns, are entrenched in the heart of Northern Mexico. They have fought with uniformed Mexicans and soldiers of both sides have fallen. Almost the whole of our effective military forces are kept on the border and lines of communication established with Pershing's men. Our War Department has held officially that a deserter from our army must be punished as in time of war. The government's censorship of all news from Mexico is more rigid than that of European belligerents. If all this is not war, what is it? If such a state of things existed between ourselves and any other nation what would we call it? What would the world call it?

Wilson and Hughes.

Foreign affairs are in the hands of the man we choose as our President. The temperament, character and quality of his mind are of vital concern to the nation. His words and deeds have revealed to the world the characteristics of Mr. Wilson. Fairminded and unprejudiced men concede his good intentions. It is impossible to think that he does not mean well. But does all this modify that mingled instability and obstinacy which events have shown to be ingrained in his nature. Is he not a composite of prejudice and timidity, of rancor and idealism, of intellectuality and indecision, of high purposes and unpractical methods?

Is not the key to the mystery of Woodrow Wilson his unwillingness to encounter trouble in the hope that something will turn up that will enable him to avoid it? And does not this strange genius for deceptive phrase make these elements of the man all the more dangerous to the Nation? A keen Englishman thus described a weathervane British statesman with a Wilsonian faculty for misleading language: "He is a clock which when it strikes four it means half-past seven and then I know it may be either a quarter before ten or twenty minutes past two."

In this troubled time and in the constructive period that will follow, our interest, our honor, our safety, call for a President who is steady and knows his own mind and the mind of the country. It is vital to our welfare that our President should be clear in thought, plain in speech, sound in judgment, firm in decision and so trustworthy that he inspires personal confidence even in those who do not agree with his policies. It is because I know that he fulfills every one of these require-

Steadiness, courage, spiritual kinship with the people, an instinctive understanding of the soul of the country and the gift of interpreting the large and permanent aims of greater America, and above all that vision without which "the people perish." ASSAULT CASE IN JUSTICE COONS COURT

George Breitweiser was tried by a jury in Justice Coons court Thursday afternoon on the charge of assault. The complaining witness was Mrs. Charles W. Nichols. Mr. Breitweiser and Mrs. Emily Nichols own grocery stores on South Main street which are quite close together. It seems there has been some dispute over the boundary line and the Jacksonville Engineering company recently made a survey of the line. The trouble arose over Mrs. Charles Nichols washing windows and Mr. Breitweiser claimed she was on his property and ordered her off. He claims she did not leave and he only used enough force to eject her from his property. There was a large array of witnesses called in the case. Mr. Breitweiser was represented by John M. Butler while J. O. Priest was attorney for Mrs. Nichols. After hearing the evidence the jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

ILLINOIS READY FOR HARD GAME

PLAY E. I. S. N. S. ON COLLEGE FIELD THIS AFTERNOON.

Men in Pink of Condition for Fray—Little Known of Visiting Team—Game to Start At 3:45.

Coach Harmon put the finishing touches on the Varsity Thursday for the game with Eastern Illinois Normal on Illinois field this afternoon. The men were given a short and snappy signal practice. Afterward the coach had the ends going down under punts and the backs catching and blocking. Work was also given in puntouts for goal and goal kicking.

The regulars with the exception of Russell are in the pink of condition for the fray. Russell has a twisted knee and Coach Harmon will use Valentine at center this afternoon and gave Russell an opportunity to entirely recover before getting into a game.

The lineup that will start this afternoon is the same as that which started against Blackburn a week ago. It is probable that it will be kept in during the entire game. The coach wants the men to get a good hard game under their belts before the Lombard game which comes a week from Saturday.

It has been difficult to get a line on the ability of the Charleston team. The team has only played two games and both of these were against high school teams. One was against Newman high school and resulted in a victory for Eastern Normal by a score of 100 to 0. The second was against Pana and the score was 16 to 6 in favor of Normal. However, Coach Harmon does not put much dependence in these games. Normal might have had a team of substitutes in the Pana game. The Normalites have been in school for several weeks and have had at least about four weeks of work. It is probable that the reason they have played the two high school teams is because no colleges have been ready for a contest.

Normal has a 220 pound center who was a star at Arcola high school last year. The Charleston Courier says that Coach Lantz has at least twenty men who are good enough for the first squad. If this is true he will have a good bunch of substitutes to rush into the fray this afternoon.

Lantz is known as one of the best athletic coaches in Illinois and he always turns out good teams. Coach Harmon is looking for a stiff game but believes that Illinois can keep Normal away from the goal posts and in the meantime score enough points to put the game on the winning side of the Illinois ledger.

The lineup of Illinois will be as follows: Rendenmen, ls. Mitchell lt. Zink, lg. Valentine c. Thibaud, rg. Conklin rt. Frisbie, re. Wilson q. B. Whisler rh. Pierce lb. Jones fb.

EMBROIDERY WAS HANDICAP.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 5.—Embroidery the 4 year old Colt-Networth filly carrying topweight of 113 pounds easily won the St. Leger handicap at two miles and a quarter, the feature race of the fall meeting at Churchill Downs here this afternoon. Killara finished second, three lengths behind while Hanovia, the only other starter came under the wire far in the rear. Embroidery was owned by A. B. Hancock and was ridden by Jockey F. Murphy.

The race was worth $1,510 to the winner.

We put it up to Hundreds of Dentists

Long before SENRECO was offered to you we submitted it to hundreds of dentists, requesting that they put it to every test. Told them that we believed Senreco to be an unusually good dentifrice, especially as to its cleansing qualities and its remedial action on sore, soft, bleeding gums; in the treatment of Pyorrhea, etc. Submitted the formula and asked them their opinion. They tested Senreco from every angle; some going even so far as to make a chemical analysis—

And They Voted Yes

With practically one accord—said:

"Senreco appeals to me more than any dentifrice I have ever seen." "I cannot say too much for Senreco. It's one of the best I have used." "I can recommend Senreco as the best." "Makes the teeth clean and is free from injurious ingredients, including pumice and grit." "I am indeed glad to get a tooth paste that does the work." "Congratulations on formulating a dentifrice that gives one a new idea of mouth cleanliness, etc." (These quotations are from the dentists' reports. Originals on file at our office.)

With such endorsements from the men who know; why not go to your dealer today and get a tube of SENRECO—25c. Keep your teeth REALLY CLEAN, and protect yourself against Pyorrhea and decay.

A copy of the folder, "The Most General Disease in the World" together with a liberal trial size tube of SENRECO will be mailed you for 5c in stamps. The National Remedies Co., Inc., Dept. B, Masonic Temple, Cincinnati, Ohio.
